LIFELINE MAN TALKS

Made Three Talks
Yesterday in Town.

He Talked, Sang and Whistled at Church.

Considerable Money Raised in Collections to Assist Preacher on His Travels.

The Rev. Mr. Ufford threw out his life line in three different places in Honolulu yesterday. He talked in the morning at Kawaiahae church, in the afternoon at Oahu Prison and in the evening in Central Union church. He got good returns in all three places for he had large audiences at each. Special collections were taken at the churches for the traveling missionary, though naturally there was nothing of the kind at the jail. Mr. Ufford in his talks says that he depends upon the Lord to assist him in carrying the life line around the world. He is not sent out by any missionary society but is conducting an independent campaign for saving men. Though he talks about the Life Saving Service of the United States and illustrates his talks with apparatus used in that service, this theme is used only as a means of comparison with his real business of saving souls.

At Kawaiahae church there was a large attendance in the morning. Nearly all of the prisoners attended the services in the jail in the afternoon. Mr. Ufford's remarks were interpreted into Chinese and Hawaiian. The traveling missionary also exhibited a photograph to the prisoners of a boy whom he said he hoped to meet on his travels and restore to a waiting and anxious mother in Portland, Oregon. It is her lost-long son and his name is Wilford Easterbrook. No one present seemed to know the original and the photograph was restored to its place of safety. Wilford left his mother three years ago and is also supposed to be a sailor.

At Central Union church the main auditorium was crowded when the author of "Throw Out the Life Line" spoke in the evening.

Rev. Mr. Meserve who returns to San Francisco on the Siberia gave a little farewell talk before Mr. Ufford was introduced. Mr. Meserve announced that the "usual offering would be taken for the work of the church" while the special offering was for Mr. Ufford. Two offerings were therefore taken, the first being considerably the larger.

Mr. Ufford was attired in his semi-nautical uniform and had with him all the apparatus of the United States Life Saving Service. He described the work of that heroic body very interestingly. He said he was glad to have the privilege of speaking in such a distinguished church and that it would remain long in his memory. He saw in the hearts of those present a response to cheer him in the message which he is taking around the world. He exhibited first the red wig flag which is used in signalling to shipwrecked sailors on the Atlantic coast. At the close of each sentence it was waved three times as denoting a full stop. Then he exhibited two bags of powder, one containing three ounces and the other four ounces. The first, he said would send a projectile containing eighteen pounds of rope 600 yards, and the second would do 110 yards better. Then there was a little tail-board containing instructions to the shipwrecked mariners which went with the projectile, also there was a cannon, a life buoy, hawser and other necessary appliances, the use and construction of which was fully explained by the speaker. A megaphone and a patent torch were also displayed, and there was also a heaving line through which seven men had been saved. This is what led to the writing of the famous hymn "Throw Out the Life Line." At that time, said Mr. Ufford, he was in charge of a church of seventy-five people a few miles from Boston. He immediately returned home to his study and sat down and thought of the sea savers, and their little red building, and saw the breakers and story of the ocean. In fifteen minutes he had written the words that made him famous. Then sitting down at his organ and without mental effort he completed the music in five minutes more.

The author then sang "The Gospel Ship" which he had also written accompanying himself on a little organ. He said that his mind seemingly ran MAUI, July 18.—Governor S. B. Dole and party will arrive on Maui this morning and will be the guests of the citizens of Wailuku at a grand luau in the government school house this afternoon and at a public reception and ball in the Knights of Pythias hall this evening. Free trains will be run from all parts of central Maui to convey people to the evening reception. It is expected that the Governor will land from the Iroquois at Kihui this morning and after a trip over the plantation, proceed by train to Puunene and after a short visit there arrive at noon at Wailuku where he will be entertained at luau, reception and ball.

WELCOME TO HAIA.

This evening, the 18th, the people of Hana district from Keanae to Kipahulu and Kaupo, will all join in welcoming home Hon. W. P. Haia, their representative to the legislature.

The ovation will take the form of a luau and a dance at the new Hana landing—the scene of the recent 4th of July ball.

Two hundred dollars have already been subscribed to defray expenses.

RIVAL OF LANTANA.

A tall weed called by Hawaiians "paamakani" is a pest on Villera's ranch at Kaupo and on the Waipae and Kahikinui ranches. On the mauka lands it is more feared as a destroyer of pasture than even the lantana, which despite of a large expenditure of money for labor to exterminate it, is gradually "getting the best" of ranches on that side of the island.

STRAY NOTES.

Monday the 13th, there was a large cattle drive on the Ulupalakua ranch. The baseball game at Wells park, Wailuku, on the afternoon of the 12th, between the "Morning Stars and Wailuku" resulted in a victory for the former by a score of 16 to 9. Jackson pitched for the Stars and Cummings and Thompson for the Wailuku boys. The Wailuku were somewhat crippled by the absence of Crook and Wright.

Last Saturday afternoon the 11th, there was a practice game of polo on the Pala grounds between the following teams: F. F. Baldwin, H. A. Baldwin, Geo. Wilber and Sam. Baldwin versus W. O. Aiken, Fred. Baldwin, Harold Castle and C. C. Krumbhaar. Baldwin's four beat Aiken's by the score of six goals to one.

Wednesday the 15th, at the Makawao Catholic church, Antonio de Souza, a teacher of the Kaupakalua school, was married to Miss Maria Gouveia of Kokomo by Father Gwendolin.

The wedding and reception afterward were largely attended by relatives and friends of the bride and groom.

along nautical grooves. He also sang "Throwing the Life Line Around the World," a composition of his own, and later "The Temperance Bird Song." In this he whistled the accompaniment producing a rather novel effect for a Sunday evening church service. He explained this however, by prefacing the song with the remark "The idea of my desire is to reach all of the people, and to do this we must entertain the heart—the imagination. We must interest people before they will listen to the gospel." In closing Mr. Ufford said, "I have no fears for the future, not a grave doubt, God is with me, and it is a great pleasure and blessing to know that I have so many kind friends ready to assist."

Then the collection was taken up for the speaker and he announced that copies of his songs in a small pamphlet could be obtained for five cents at the Y. M. C. A. today, also photographs of the Mariner's church, San Francisco and himself for fifty cents. Mr. Ufford also announced his intention of writing a history of his tour around the world and promised that it would certainly contain a good story of Honolulu and the pleasant people he had met here.

The photograph of the missing Portland boy was displayed to the congregation, but as at the prison Mr. Ufford was doomed to disappointment.

The news of the death of Judge Luther Wilcox, the famous police justice of Honolulu, was received with much regret on Maui.

Saturday evening the 11th, a most enjoyable dancing party was given at the Makawao home of Mrs. Randal von Tempsky. Music by a stringed band and selections on a Victor talking machine enlivened the occasion. At midnight elaborate refreshments were served. Between forty and fifty young people from Makawao, Puunene, Kihui, and Ulupalakua were present.

At 2 p. m. on the 12th, a most delightful luau was given by Mr. and Mrs. Louis von Tempsky of Haleakala ranch as a farewell honor to Miss N. H. Hayes who after several years' residence on the Islands is soon to return to her home in the Southern States.

Forty-five of Miss Hayes' Maui friends sat down to the fern and flower bedecked tables and enjoyed the delicious viands cooked a la Hawaiian. Music by a stringed band gave brightness to the event.

Wednesday the 15th, Mrs. W. F. McConkey of Pala gave an afternoon tea to her guest, Mrs. S. D. Heapy of Honolulu. The occasion was a most pleasant one, affording as it did to Mrs. Heapy an opportunity of meeting old Makawao friends.

Friday afternoon, the 17th, the Ladies' Reading club met at the home of Mrs. F. W. Hardy of Makawao. The subject of the reading was "Helen Keller". Thirty were present.

Hawaiian Coffee In Demand.

Diversified agriculture finds a strong champion in the Makaha Coffee Co., owning about 700 acres of land at Wai-anae, Oahu. This company, when the coffee boom was on, planted 130,000 coffee trees which are now in fine bearing; and since then it has ventured in limes and pineapples. The limes are of such good promise that the company expects, next year to supply this market with them and have a surplus to export. Pineapples have been raised at a good profit, and now, owing to the reputation Hawaiian coffee is getting on the coast, there promises to be a high price for this product. Figures are already nearing the top notch.

For years our coffee was turned in with the glut from Central America and Java, and it is no secret that it was mixed with these brands and sold without its distinctive label. For some time past it has been advertised on its merits through firms in San Francisco, Chicago and New York, with the result that coffee drinkers ask for it and are ready to pay a fair price. Who knows but that this method of publicity will serve our territorial coffee interests as well as the special fame, of the navel orange of California, the Indian river orange of Florida, the Blue Point oyster, the Cresta Blanca wine and the Vermont brand of maple sugar has served the producers of this merchandise.—Sidelights.
